Using Email Appropriately at Work

Why use email? Email is a fast and efficient way to communicate. It allows you to send messages to multiple people at once, and it provides a written record of your communications. However, it's important to use email appropriately to avoid misunderstandings and maintain a professional environment.

When to use email: Use email for routine tasks, scheduling, and information sharing. Avoid using email for sensitive information, personal matters, or urgent issues that require immediate attention.

Best practices:

- Use clear subject lines.
- Keep messages concise and to the point.
- Use appropriate tone and language.
- Respond to emails in a timely manner.
- Use email for work-related matters only.

Distressed Driving and You!

What is distressed driving? Distressed driving is a state of mind where a driver is unable to focus on the road due to external factors such as stress, fatigue, or distraction. This can lead to dangerous driving behaviors and accidents.

Causes of distressed driving:

- Stress and anxiety.
- Fatigue and lack of sleep.
- Distraction (e.g., cell phone use, eating, drinking).
- Impaired judgment and reaction time.

How to avoid distressed driving:

- Get enough sleep and rest.
- Manage stress through relaxation techniques.
- Avoid driving when you are tired or stressed.
- Focus on the road and avoid distractions.
